Plan to Slash Viet Aid Withers Away

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is unlikely to admit it, but it seems apparent the plan to wind up the major part of the U.S. military effort in South Viet Nam by the end of 1965 has quietly withered away.

When officials are reminded of that plan, announced last October, they reply: "But there have been two coups in Saigon since then."

What they mean is that the effort against the Communist insurgents has been set back by confusion and disorganization stemming from two changes in the South Vietnamese government. These were the overthrow of the Diem regime by a military junta in November and the overthrow of the junta by another military group in January.

The belief is that the 15,000 U.S. military men in South Viet Nam will not be reduced appreciably, if at all, this year, and perhaps not to any great extent next year.

New plans to double the number of Vietnamese pilots and to boost the Vietnamese ground forces by some 50,000 men will entail increased U.S. training responsibilities that will carry over at least into 1965.

Some U.S. advisers will return home as their tasks are finished—as the Vietnamese get the hang of doing certain things for themselves.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says repeatedly it will be a long, hard struggle before the Communists are overcome in Viet Nam.

The latest indication that the end-of-1965 target date has been shelved came Tuesday after McNamara testified in secret before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., the committee chairman, said McNamara "was not as optimistic on his timetable as he had been before."

Actually, McNamara for some time has avoided any direct answer to reporters' questions about whether the 1965 objective still holds.

Some officials contend there never was a flat commitment to pull out the bulk of U.S. military men by the end of next year.

Johnson, who just barely won a runoff spot against Wickersham after the May 5 primary, had 42,185 votes to 40,973 for Wickersham with all precincts reported.

Harris' stunning triumph was the climax to a bitter campaign.

Wilkinson, the Republican glamour candidate who turned to politics from a career as Oklahoma football coach, commented after Harris' victory that he hopes for a fall campaign based on issues rather than personalities.

Harris, a state senator and awton attorney, ran 5th in a field of 12 for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1962.

Edmondson's defeat in the Senate race was almost as great as his victory when he was elected governor in 1958. He resigned about a week before his term was to expire to accept a two-year appointment to the Senate after the death of Robert S. Kerr.

It is the final two years of Kerr's term which is involved in the current campaign.

Harris carried 74 of Oklahoma's 77 counties, missing out by only eight votes in Edmondson's home county, Muskogee, and in Cherokee and Adair counties.

Harris won the endorsement of Sen. Kerr's widow. The Kerr Senate staff formed the core of his campaign organization.

3 Injured In Road Mishaps

Two Motorists Cited by Patrol

A Columbiana and two Mahoning County persons, bruised and cut in two district traffic mishaps Tuesday, were treated at Salem City and Youngstown South Side Hospitals and released.

Berlin Center and North Lima motorists were cited.

The North Lima car operator, Ralph I. Martin, 35, of RD 1, was treated for lacerations of the lip, contusions of the left knee, and lacerations and contusions of the right arm and elbow.

The driver of the car Martin struck, James H. Mong, 17, of RD 2, Columbiana, suffered contusions and lacerations of the forehead and abrasions of the left arm and leg. The injured persons were brought to Salem City Hospital.

The Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol, which investigated the mishap at 6:20 p.m. on Route 14, about two miles east of Columbiana, said Mong was turning into his driveway when struck from behind by Martin. The force shoved the youth's car into a mail box belonging to Joseph Mong, his father.

Martin was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

In a one-car mishap at 3:55 p.m. on Route 62, about three miles west of the Youngstown city limits, George J. Hinerman Jr., 20, of RD 1, Canfield, was

Nanda Sworn In As Acting Prime Minister by President

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, the aristocratic statesman who led India in the paths of neutralism and socialism since it became independent in 1947, died today after suffering his second stroke in less than five months. He was 74.

Home Minister G. L. Nanda, a senior Cabinet member who has a reputation for getting things done, was sworn in as acting prime minister.

Nanda was sworn in by President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan. An elderly philosopher renowned in world academic circles, Radhakrishnan was charged under the constitution to take over the government on the death of the prime minister. But Nanda was quickly chosen to handle the administrative details.

Officials announced Nehru's body would lie in state in his residence and the doors would be open all night to let people file by him.

Thursday morning, the body will be "taken out in procession," as Indians say, through the streets of the capital to the burning ground.

Nehru will be cremated at a spot near that where Gandhi was cremated in 1948. A memorial to Gandhi was completed there last year.

"The prime minister is no more," Steel Minister C. Subramaniam told the sobbing Parliament, "Life is out. The light is out."

Nehru was stricken at 6:25 a.m. as he arose at his usual hour. He died at 2 p.m. — 4:30 a.m. EDT, seven hours and 35 minutes later. A stroke on Jan. 7 had partially paralyzed his left side but he had recovered somewhat and in recent weeks had resumed his seat in Parliament.

His only child, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, was with him when he died. A large team of doctors was in attendance. The U.S. Embassy offered its medical staff and equipment, but an embassy spokesman said the Indian government did not request assistance.

Nehru's two sisters, Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit and Mrs. Krishna Hutheesingh, left Bombay by special plane for New Delhi.

Mrs. Pandit is governor of Maharashtra State.

Nehru's death urgently raised a question that has plagued India for years — his successor. The strong-willed prime minister held the reins of power firmly and adamantly refused to designate a successor.

A leading candidate has been Lal Bahadur Shastri, 59, a mild-mannered, 5-foot-2 veteran of the ruling All-India Congress party and a close friend of Nehru. After Nehru's first stroke, he summoned Shastri, made him a Cabinet minister without portfolio and put him in charge.

But when Nehru began recovering, Shastri was elbowed aside and his political stock dropped.

Two other political figures generally regarded as possible successors are Home Minister G. L. Nanda and Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari.

The Indian constitution provides for the president, normally a ceremonial official, to take over the government on the death of the prime minister.

The president is Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, an elderly philosopher renowned in world academic circles and a highly respected figure in India.

Nehru was born an aristocrat — a Kashmiri Brahmin, or the highest of the high among Hindus. But Gandhi's persuasion and his own compassion for his oppressed countrymen under British rule drove Nehru and his whole family into the independence movement. It meant years in British jails for him and his father, the wealthy lawyer Motilal Nehru, and others in the family.

The boy raised in the lap of luxury — indoor and outdoor swimming pools at home, ponies to ride, and a British education — often disagreed with the mystic and visionary Mahandas Gandhi but bowed to Gandhi's will to attain the goal of independence, reached in mid-August 1947.

By then Gandhi's mission was over for all practical purposes and Nehru undertook the perhaps even more arduous task of trying to make a democracy of as curious a crazy quilt pattern of ex-colonial areas, princedoms and satrapies as the world has known — present population about 470 million.

As an elder statesman Gandhi lasted less than six months — un-

Dems Pour Funds Into Party Coffers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats gaily chorused "Once in Love with Lyndon" as they poured an estimated million dollars into the party treasury Tuesday night and heard President Johnson stop just short of declaring what everyone knows: that he plans to be around for four more years.

Republicans were singing another tune.

They charged that career government employees had been pressured into taking part in the $100-a-ticket Democratic frolic.

The festivities were part of fund-raising efforts expected to net more than $3 million this week for the 1964 Democratic presidential campaign. A re-run of the whole show is scheduled Thursday night in New York.

Some 6,000 turned out for the star-filled "Salute to Johnson" show at the District of Columbia Armory, with 750 persons on hand for the earlier $1,000-a-plate dinner with the President.

No figures were available, but the festivities probably contributed at least the $1 million predicted in advance.

But Johnson, with tongue firmly in cheek, insisted it was not a political shindig.

This show is open to anyone who wants to contribute $100 to the Democratic campaign," he said.

On the serious side, Johnson told the crowd, "This is a significant moment. You are gathering as one Democratic administration draws to a close — and as we prepare for another four years of Democratic leadership."

Departing from his prepared text, the President, who never officially has said he will be a candidate next fall, added:

"I hope that you are all going to be with me for these years of achievement that are yet to come."

Johnson spent much of his speech pointing with pride to past accomplishments of Democratic presidents, and promising great things for the future.

But as an incumbent, he did not view with alarm anything, past, present or future.

He said: "Our legacy from the MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A delegate slate pledged to Sen. Barry Goldwater was turned down by Republicans, and a governor sworn to erect barriers against civil rights was nominated by Democrats in Tuesday's Florida primary.

Goldwater's chances of Florida support at the national convention were not erased. But they were weakened by election of a slate headed by a man who made no bones about current disenchantment with the Arizona conservative.

"Goldwater appeared on television and radio extensively in the last week and campaigned against us," said Tom Fairfield Brown of Tampa, state Republican chairman who heads the winning slate.

"I feel we have a mandate from the people to go to California and represent Florida the best we can. Whether the delegates will be in favor of Goldwater when we get there may be another matter."

Brown's slate will send at least 28 of the 34 Florida delegates to the convention. The six other spots remained in doubt.

It was a big victory for Brown, who had led his delegation in a fight for the state party leadership against Rep. William Cramer, R-Fla., who headed the slate pledged to Goldwater.

An Associated Press poll had shown most of the Brown slate loyal to Goldwater, but Brown now called it a "no-preference delegation."

Haydon Burns, 52-year-old mayor of Jacksonville and a tough-talking foe of the civil rights bill, won the Democratic nomination for governor. That means almost certain election in November against Republican Charles Holley, a state legislator.

Burns won by a margin of more than 169,000 votes over Mayor Robert King High of Miami, who had promised to enforce any civil rights law enacted by Congress and signed by President Johnson.

Racial violence hit Burns' city of Jacksonville during the heated campaign, which was waged almost entirely on the rights issue.

Criticism

Entertainment Media Exploiting Youth, Editor Says

By G.K. HODENFIELD
CHICAGO (AP) — The American child is being exploited by magazine and book publishers and the producers of movies and television programs, says Mrs. Herman Grant, editor of the PTA Magazine.

"These people could do so very much for our children," she said in an interview today. "The tragic truth is that they really do so little."

Mrs. Grant spoke out on the final day of the 68th annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. "The movies have practically exhausted every aberration and deviation known to mankind," she said. "The only hopeful thing is that Hollywood may succeed in making depravity a dismal bore."

"Unfortunately, at the same time, they may make a bore out of many of the good and useful and elevating things in life."

Mrs. Grant said, "Television, in spite of its frequent promises to produce entertaining and instructive children's programs, remains a wasteland—and one mined with dangers to children."

Mrs. Grant noted that many magazines have begun recently to feature discussions of schools and education. But, she said, if "these people were really serious about doing a service to children, they would refrain from their sensational and often misleading titles and editorial come-ons, their gimmicks and devices that make it evident they are less interested in presenting fact than in stirring up friction."

"When they want to increase circulation they follow a tried-and-true formula. First, they put in a reducing diet. If that doesn't do it, they tell the 16 ways to 'tease' a girl's hair. 'And, if that doesn't work, they can always attack the schools.'"

Mrs. Grant leveled the same criticism at the publishers of many current books.

County Got $93,475 In Liquor Fees

Under provisions of the Ohio liquor law, the state turned back to Columbiana County $93,475 in liquor permit fees during 1963, according to an audit just completed by State Auditor Roger W. Tracy.

Of the total distribution to the subdivisions of the county, Salem shared to the extent of $18,310, Tracy said. The municipality realized $8,000 from licensed night clubs at the rate of $1,000 per permit, while liquor-by-the-glass permits produced $4,400; private clubs paid $1,600 at the rate of $200 each, while retail beer and wine permits brought another $3,300.

State-wide figures show that Ohio paid back a total of $9,496,364.57 to the various political subdivisions, with the 4,006 night clubs accounting for a total of $4,006,000 or 42.1 per cent of the total license fees collected.

Liquor-by-the-glass permits sold in the state totaled 6,873 and brought in $2,744,970, or 28.9 per cent of the total revenues. Retail beer and wine permits issued totaled 28,078 licenses and produced $2,107,225.

The War Memorial Site

The War Memorial Committee's campaign to erect a suitable monument to the memory of Salem's heroes of World War II and the Korean War has not met with the public support that had been expected.

Few people, until lately, have manifested any outward interest in the plans, and contributions to help share the cost of the marker have been far short of the goal. Furthermore, attendance of civic, fraternal and community groups at previously-announced meetings has not come up to expectations.

Recently, however, a number of individuals have questioned the wisdom of placing the monument on the lawn of the Village Green at the corner of State St. and S. Lincoln because they fear the monument will spoil the appearance of the city's sesquicentennial center, suggesting that perhaps the lawn of the War Memorial Building, which was erected after World War I, might be a more suitable location.

Whether the monument would look better at the Village Green or at the Memorial Building may be hard for many persons to decide, but at least the Committee now has received a sampling of public opinion, divergent as it is. This newspaper favors the Memorial Building site.

Perhaps between now and Veterans Day, when it is planned to dedicate the monument, the committee can reach a decision, or reaffirm one already made. The final selection may not please everyone, but it should satisfy the majority.

'Poverty' Can Be Voluntary

President Johnson's current campaign against "poverty" has brought Republican retaliation.

Two congressmen—M. G. Snyder of Kentucky and Dave Martin of Nebraska—have asked the President, in effect: "What about Laby Bird's acreage in Alabama where her tenants live in abject poverty? Why don't you do something about them?"

The First Lady's staff director has explained that it is true that a Negro share-cropper family does occupy some of Mrs. John's Alabama acreage which once was cotton land and now has been diverted mostly into timber.

It so happens that the share-croppers pleaded with Mrs. Johnson to let them stay on as long as they lived. They pay her $5-a-month rent. She provides them with clothes and gifts occasionally. They are grateful to her. They have what they want for their own happiness.

THE INCIDENT simply points up a question which many more affluent Americans have overlooked: What is poverty?

Some define it as anything below an artificial figure of annual income. Others define it in terms of housing, clothing, automobiles, material possessions.

There is no real definition. The family accustomed to $20,000 a year might feel poverty-stricken if it were cut to $15,000. The family with $5,000 a year might consider itself "poor" if it were reduced to $4,000. Some families with $1,000 are not "poor": they are wealthy because they have all they need and want for their own happiness.

President Johnson has made a big to-do about the so-called "poverty" in "Appalachia." There's no doubt that some families in this one-time comparatively prosperous coal mining belt are in dire financial straits. They are dejected and frustrated and deserve the sympathy and help of fellow Americans.

Some of them, however, would not change places with the so-called affluent for anything in the world. They like life as they have it.

SOME PARTS OF OHIO have individuals intelligent and skilled enough to hold down good-paying industrial jobs but don't want to work. Their employers are forced to beg them to work when there's work to be done.

But they work only long enough to earn enough to buy a new stove, or a television set, or an auto, or perhaps shoes. They'd rather hunt and fish than work. They have their own little garden plots, a few hens, perhaps a couple of hogs for meat.

They like it that way. No amount of money offered for a job can lure them to change their way of life.

There are thousands of this same sort of people elsewhere in "Appalachia."

President Johnson needs to be careful whom a generous Uncle Sam offers to help. Good Americans sympathize with those genuinely in need. They won't be interested in shelling out for those who are happy as they are and don't want jobs or money.

The Slim Ones

By Truman Twill

Thin people, say the doctors, have the best chance to clean up on Old Age Benefits.

No matter where you look, or what you listen to, people are being urged by medical consultants to stay thin and live.

Everybody who looks well-fed is on a diet or getting ready to go on one. In a country that disagrees about everything else, there is a consensus on thinness. It is the thing to be. Like being educated. Yet, those of us who never grew blubber continue to be objects of pity for the fat set. They worry about us, poke their fingers into our ribs, make jokes about the size of our legs and are solicitous about our safety in windstorms.

They talk about putting meat on our bones as if we were being prepared for butchering. They urge us to stuff down more goodies so roses will bloom in our cheeks.

Their doctors may have just finished telling them to lose weight if they want to stay out of the hands of the undertaker, but that does not discourage them from telling us how much better we would look and feel if we'd put on a few of the pounds they're trying to take off.

THIS GOES ON and on and on — and once a year I've had all I can take of it. Let's get this straight, my fleshy friends. I and my bony associates do not hold it against you for looking like badly designed overstuffed furniture. It was your tough luck to be born with the potentiality of being gross instead of svelte.

Those of us who are svelte claim no credit — not even if we once had to fight our way back to health and beauty after falls from grace. We pity all roly-poly people. We do not despise them.

We are not obnoxious about our good fortune in being able to eat what we feel like eating without ballooning up like foundered cattle. We are not inclined to make a ritual of eating, which is something we do to survive, not something we think of as feasting and fasting like an exercise in primitive faith.

NOR DO WE think of oleaginous oafs waddling from place to place with stately elephantine grace as being a grotesque procession marked for the mortuary, which is the way the medical profession views the whole unwholesome mess.

We think that "there but for the grace of low assimilation might go I" ... and we really do.

And in turn it would be nice of you corpulencies to think when you see us skimming over the landscape like gazelles that "there but for the curse of high assimilation might go I."

We're lucky, that's all — and if you don't think so talk it over with your croaker the next time he tells you to take it off if you hope to see your next birthday.

No hard feelings, understand. But get off our bony backs.

"A Funny Thing Happened to Me on the Way to California..."

Longshoremen's Plans

By VICTOR RIESEL

American Longshoremen, hardly impressed by the tradition which has Britannia ruling the waves, are preparing "to close" U. S. ports to hundreds of United Kingdom freighters.

And this is merely the beginning of what will affect hundreds of vessels on all the seas. Longshoremen are dispatching word to fleet owners across the world that they now must choose between transporting English buses, French locomotives and German machinery to Cuba and doing business in U. S. Atlantic and Gulf port harbors.

The word is blunt. No fleet owner can cater to the chaotic Cuban Communist economy and at the same time send his other craft into U.S. ports for profitable cargo.

"We're not unloading any ship," Longshoremen's leader Ted Gleason told this column, "which is owned by any man or company doing business with the enemy — whether it is Castro's Cuba or Mao's China."

"WE NOW HAVE a ruling

from the U. S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals stating it is the political right of our men to refuse to handle cargoes of sister ships to those which run into Cuba or China. Okay! This is it!

"We are not trying to be heroes. We're acting when a lot of people just talk. These boycotts have cost our Longshoremen hundreds of millions of dollars over the years. If we don't load and unload cargo, we don't get paid. We have no weekly or annual wages. But we're putting our hatred of Castro above our pocketbooks."

Gleason was neither swaggering nor exaggerating. Back in 1962, before the U. S. government officially created a blacklist of ships sailing to Cuba, the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) ordered its men not to handle foreign freighters which were running between U.S. ports and Cuban docks. This cost the union's members some $10 million a month in wages which they would have earned if they were "turning the ships around."

AT THAT TIME there was an average of 54 sailings a month between Atlantic and Gulf ports and Cuba. This is a goodly number of ships — and the dockworkers could have used the work.

But the LA leaders went beyond the line of duty to their collective consciences. They created an intelligence network to inform themselves of freighter fleet owners who were using some of their vessels to transport cargoes from Asia to such transshipment points as Dakar, or Hamburg — ports in which the equipment would be transferred to ships for the final run to Cuba.

When such vessels hove into American ports to pick up freight for a profitable return voyage, the ILA refused to sling the cargo. The legality of such boycotts was in doubt until last Thursday when Federal Court of Appeals Judge Simon E. Sobeloff in the majority opinion ruled that such political boycotts were within the law. This gives the ILA leaders just the opening they have been seeking.

LONG BEFORE the British announced they would sell 900 buses to Castro and the French reported a Cuban deal for 20 locomotives, the Longshoremen were eager to boycott foreign flag fleets which have been carrying strategic materials to Cuba for several years.

Since as far back as 1962, the British have been selling Cuba aircraft, power generating machinery, electrical machinery, chemicals, rubber articles, road motor vehicles and heavy equipment.

Britain also has sold electrical and non-electrical machinery, as well as iron and steel plates to Communist China. Not all the shipments to Cuba and Peking have gone in English vessels. Many craft have been chartered from fleet owners flying the flags of small nations.

"We're going after the big ones this time," Gleason said after the court approved the Longshoremen's refusal to work the Tulsa Hill, now stranded in Baltimore, which had run into Cuba.

"I'm going to put the boycott proposal before the OLA executive council during the week of June 8. And we're not going to be awed by the fact that ships are of British or French registry."

GLEASON BELIEVES it probable that the British will retaliate and attempt to punish our merchant vessels in United Kingdom ports. But he and his colleagues say that such a counter-move would create an international crisis which could only be ended at the White House-Downing St. level.

"We expect there will be an international conference," he said. "That will be good. It might clear the air. But whatever happens, we are not going to help strengthen the Communist enemies of our land."

Eisenhower's Goal

By DAVID LAWRENCE

When former President Eisenhower issued a statement on Monday describing in general terms his attitude toward the principles which the Republican party should bear in mind in nominating a candidate, the outstrued by David Lawrence as being a pattern that the Arizona senator could not possibly fit. Sen. Goldwater himself, however, welcomed the declaration as a "re-statement of the basic Republican principles" on which he said he was campaigning.

A close reading of what Mr. Eisenhower really said would seem to indicate that Sen. Goldwater could accept 100 per cent what Mr. Eisenhower wrote and still be consistent with previous utterances.

Mr. Eisenhower, in his copyrighted article in the New York Herald Tribune, wrote, for example:

"We believe in keeping government as close to the people as possible — in letting each citizen do for himself what he can do for himself, then making any call for government assistance first on the local government, then on the state government, and only in the final report to the federal government."

THIS IS a philosophy which many conservatives have embraced, including Sen. Goldwater, who once commented that not all the activities of the Tennessee Valley Authority were necessarily the province of the federal government and that some, but not necessarily all, of the facilities could just as well be operated under lease by private enterprise.

Another part of the latest statement by Mr. Eisenhower pointed out that more progress had been made in civil rights during the eight years of the Republican administration than in the preceding 80 years. Mr. Eisenhower said:

"We did this through vigorous executive action, through steadfast enforcement of court decisions and through passage of the Civil Rights Acts of 1957 and 1960 — the first such acts passed since Reconstruction."

Sen. Goldwater on Sunday — the day before Mr. Eisenhower was issuing his statement — expressed his views on this very subject in a television interview with Howard K. Smith on the American Broadcasting Company's program, Issues and Answers. Mr. Goldwater said:

"At one time when I wrote the book (The Conscience of a Conservative) I felt that it was improper for the federal government to intervene in a local school system as far as integration goes. I believe now that this is possible and I believe the machinery is there to do it and I think the criticism I would aim at the attorney generals we have had is that they haven't used the machinery."

"Now they are asking for another law. If this law is needed, fine and dandy. I will go along with it."

SEN. GOLDWATER discussed the pending civil rights bill, and pointed out that too many members of Congress are confusing civil rights and states rights. He added that the Constitution mentions only one civil right, and that is the right to vote.

He emphasized that the states have the right to deal with public accommodations and that 31 out of the 50 states have already done so. He added:

"But they have never turned over to the federal government the power to do this, and the Congress in a very wrong approach in my opinion is using the interstate commerce clause of the Constitution to accomplish this."

"If this is correct, then the federal government doesn't have to ask the states about anything. They can just take the powers over, and we become a centralized government."

"The same thing applies to Fair Employment Practices Commission. This is a prerogative of a state, and I would like to see the states do this. It is their right and the federal government should not take it."

"I mentioned earlier that I had changed my opinion on the states' retaining the right to control elementary education, even in the face of a court order. I believe that an edict from a federal court could end these situations wherever they exist, but this administration has been very reluctant to try and do this. They want more law, and I don't know what other law we can give them."

MR. EISENHOWER, in discussing the racial controversies of the day, said there are many matters of the human heart and spirit which "are not always amenable to law."

Close examination of Sen. Goldwater's views and those of former President Eisenhower will disclose that, while there may be some differences of opinion about the application of basic principles, the Arizona senator and the former President are not all at odds on the importance of a minimum amount of governmental interference in the private affairs of the citizen and on the importance also of proceeding lawfully and constitutionally in dealing with today's controversial issues.

Incidentally, the latest tabulation of the voting in the 10 states in which presidential primaries have been held shows that 1,067,201 persons voted for Sen. Goldwater as the exponent of true Republicanism. This exceeded all the votes cast for Messrs. Lodge, Rockefeller, Nixon and Scranton in those same primaries.

A Word About the Memorial

I think it is most unfortunate that certain citizens of Salem disapprove of the selection of the Village Green as a site for the proposed War Memorial.

Plans for this memorial have been in the making for six months, all meetings have been open to any person interested enough to attend. I feel that this memorial would add to the Village Green, not mar its beauty.

This memorial, regardless of where it is placed, should give every citizen of Salem a feeling of great pride.

Life Must Go On

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Despite the importunities of many who have asked him to intervene in the present contest for the Republican presidential nomination, Gen. Eisenhower has unequivocally made it known that he is more concerned with the future unity of his party than in the fortunes of any prospective candidate.

Considering the lateness of the hour, this is a sound decision. Because intervention now would tend to shatter the party on the eve of an important national campaign and might possibly deny the American people the advantages of a sound two-party system.

This also is the concern of Richard Nixon. For his statements and speeches during the past few months have been designed to concentrate the attention of his party on an effective opposition — a counter force — in shaping national policies.

This should be the major concern for all Republicans. They should be concentrating their attention on the present Democratic administration and Congress rather than fighting among themselves.

EISENHOWER and Nixon are the major spokesmen of the Republican party. Only these two men have been subject in the last decade to a test at the polls in a national election. In 1956, the vote for Eisenhower was 35.5 million. In 1960, Nixon polled 34.2 million votes.

And as Eisenhower has said himself, if he had campaigned more vigorously for the Republican candidate in 1960 Nixon would not only have won but have possibly exceeded the mark in the popular vote of 1956.

Consider these figures. They exceeded any earlier vote for a Republican presidential candidate by approximately 12 million.

This consideration for Republican unity is more than a mere party matter. It concerns all Americans. For a strong two-party system is not only a foundation stone for our institutions, but a guarantee of our liberties.

Moreover, a two-party system should be composed of two truly national parties. For nearly 90 years after the Civil War we had no real two-party system. Eleven states were taken for granted by the Democratic and written off by the Republican parties.

BUT BEGINNING in 1952, the so-called solid South began to break up. In 1956, Eisenhower carried five of the eleven. In 1960, Nixon carried three, and lost, rather narrowly, five others. Nixon carried several of the large cities in the South.

The growth (it is not a revival) of the Republican party in the South has been spectacular. This development has little to do with the race question except that many citizens there are tired and disgusted because of the bitter fight between state authorities and the Democratic administration in Washington.

Rather the growth of Republicanism has paralleled the rise in population, the surging of industry and the countless new ties, cultural, industrial and political, which those states have with the rest of the nation.

A new generation has grown up which has no sympathy with the memories of Civil War and Reconstruction years. These people want to get in step with the rest of the nation. And this greater national unity should be reflected in both national parties.

THE FOREGOING may seem to some who are concerned only with what candidate will be nominated in July as a pitch for Goldwater. It is not a plea for anyone. Rather I'm attempting to say that the people who choose a candidate should concern themselves with the long-term interests of their party. Win or lose in 1964, Republicans must continue party building. They should not permit their feelings about this or that aspect of the civil rights legislation now before Congress to continue to divide our nation into two mutually antagonistic parts.

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: If you bake sugar cookies (the kind you roll out, cut with a cookie cutter and sprinkle with sugar), try it this way:

Cut both top and bottom from a frozen juice can and use this for a cutter.

Put your sugar in a salt shaker and sprinkle each cookie BEFORE you lift your cutter off the dough.

This way only the cookie gets sugared, no sugar is wasted, and your scraps of dough do not get loaded with extra sugar.

Your column is terrific. More power to you. I wish someone like you had been around when I was married nearly forty years ago.

MARY BORTHISTLE.

DEAR HELOISE: Our family is very fond of the quotation: "This, too, shall pass."

How often in a lifetime, we have to remind ourselves of this. It is comforting in time of sorrow and grief, despair, loneliness or fear.

But, I also find myself muttering it aloud on those days when the children are on a rampage and nothing, absolutely nothing, goes right! Thank the Good Lord every day DOES end, sooner or later!

NITA RICHARDSON.

LISTEN FOLKS: Don't you just hate those pithy potatoes that grow eyes? They seem to stare you in the face, saying, "Look, go buy some new ones."

When you see little white buds growing on potatoes, take your fingernail or a knife, and pop them off! Your potato won't shrink and shrivel... and they will keep longer.

Try it. It works.

Test it this way yourself: Save two potatoes from the same batch. Let one grow eyes, but keep the eyes scratched off the other one. Leave them in your potato bin for a month or so... then write and tell me which is and which isn't, and if I am right.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I purchased a suede brush at my five and dime store and use it to scrub my baked potatoes. It works like a charm. It seemed as if I could never quite get them clean enough before I tried this method.

MRS. E. C. SENTER.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Keep Those Teeth Cleaned

"Is it necessary to lose a however, attached at their very edge but about a millimeter or two below. This unattached or so-called 'free margin of the gums' is as deep as it's necessary to go in thoroughly scraping debris from teeth.

Dr. Brandstadt

I'm quite sure he was being somewhat extravagant in his estimate. It isn't likely that his dental hygienist was trying to kill him; it's more likely that his gums were inflamed and infected, and this could have been because he neglected to have his teeth cleaned for too long a time. Tartar that collects on teeth irritates gums and causes easy bleeding.

Prophylaxis instruments are of a variety to suit every operator, every tooth, and indeed every surface of every tooth. If they are kept sharp and used well, teeth can be relieved of tartar with little bleeding.

GUMS ARE ATTACHED to necks of teeth. They are not, and spend much time in clinical work and on-the-job training.

HYGIENISTS ARE often the key to a smoothly run dental practice in which patients are recalled periodically for cleaning and examination.

The prophylaxis visit is an important one; it's pleasant and painless. Patients say it's a comforting feeling to run their tongue over newly cleaned, smooth, polished teeth. This is also the best time to examine teeth since all surfaces are free of debris and cavities are easily seen.

X-rays, one on each side of the mouth, should be taken so that areas between teeth and under old fillings are exposed to view. Small cavities so discovered can be filled before they get big enough to cause toothaches or worse.

This is preventive dentistry at its best!

Nehru

til his assassination Jan. 30, 1948 — and Nehru then became sole leader.

He believed neither capitalism nor socialism alone would work for India, and he instituted a form of state socialism for heavy industry and utilities, accepting foreign aid where he could get it for these and sponsoring private works where possible.

Nehru steered a careful but perilous course in world politics and won denunciations from both sides of the cold war as well as praise and cooperation from the nonaligned, or neutral, nations.

Much of the West's dissatisfaction with Nehru resulted from the way his foreign policy was dealt out at the United Nations and elsewhere by his venomous roving defense minister, V. K. Krishna Menon. Menon, a leftist anti-Westerner, fell from grace through lack of preparedness for the Chinese invasion of India in 1962.

Menon was the high-riding defense minister a year earlier when India invaded and seized the Portuguese west coast enclaves of Goa, Damao and Diu after failing to persuade the Portuguese they should leave the subcontinent as the British and French had done. For this exploit Nehru was widely criticized as being inconsistent with his precepts but he claimed India had no alternative in regard to foreign rule.

A great test of Nehru's neutralism came in the fall of 1962 when Communist China unleashed a powerful attack along the Himalayan border and moved into long-disputed frontier areas.

As the Chinese drove back his poorly equipped army, Nehru assumed near-dictatorial powers, pledged a fight "until final victory is achieved," and turned to the West and to Russia for weapons.

The United States immediately organized an airlift of arms, and it seemed that India, however reluctantly, would be forced to move away from nonalignment.

A bitter dispute then raging between Moscow and Peking over what the Chinese considered a soft Soviet approach toward the West made it easier for Nehru to avoid taking a clear-cut stand, however. He remained on friendly terms with Moscow and, while fighting the border war, continued to maintain diplomatic relations with Peking and to support its bid for U.N. membership. The Chinese abruptly ended their drive after a few weeks fighting and ordered a cease-fire as a troop pullback.

Pakistan, the Moslem nation born of the 1947 independence and the British-drawn partition of the subcontinent, was Nehru's greatest single continuing political problem until the 1962 Chinese invasion. But full-scale war between India and Pakistan was averted. Their closest, and continuing, confrontation of arms is in Kashmir, the last prize in the independence grab bag, where their armies are separated by a U.N. truce line.

Nehru had been in waning health for more than two years. In March 1962 he was struck by prostate trouble, his first serious illness after advancing into old age with unusual bounce and vigor. He recovered, but in the ensuing months his appearance aged rapidly.

The 1962 Chinese invasion acted as a restorative, and he responded with his old vigor. But after the one-month undeclared war ended, his energy began to ebb again.

Nehru's performance became very uneven. Some visitors found him luck and energetic. But he dozed off on other visitors and occasionally at public functions. Some times he walked erect. More often he hobbled along, head bent.

A stroke on Jan. 7 partially paralyzed his left side. He improved slowly, and in recent weeks had resumed some government activities, including appearances in Parliament.

Emery H. Roepke

NORTH LIMA — Emery Herman Roepke, 65, of 111 E. Western Reserve Road, died of a heart attack at 6:15 a.m. Tuesday in South Side Hospital after a month's illness.

tan's upper West Side, a predominantly white neighborhood. A crowd gathered at the bar at 3299 Broadway and the noisiest rattle and pounded on the door, shouting for a lynching.

Mahoning Rackets Inquiry On Again

YOUNGSTOWN — Twenty-seven more special witnesses, most of them with gambling records, have been summoned to appear before the Mahoning County grand jury today and tomorrow in a re-opening of the crime investigation.

Biggest name on the list is John (Popeye) Steves, holder of a federal gambling tax stamp. The jury also subpoenaed his brother, Dominic Steves, of Boardman, and brother-in-law Joe Zajac. All have been linked to the Wilson Confectionery, 1026 Wilson Ave., numbers head-quarters.

County Prosecutor Clyde W. Osborne, who issued the subpoenas, said of this new group of witnesses:

"I guess you can call it a continuation of the crime investigation we launched last fall and carried over into the winter of 1964. Neither we in the prosecutor's office nor the Federal Bureau of Investigation is content to let things rest where they are."

KSU Scholarship

Deadline Extended

Atty. Alfred Fitch, chairman of the scholarship committee of the Salem Academic Center of Kent State University, has announced the Board of Trustees has decided that scholarship applications will be taken until July 1.

"We currently have four scholarships available and hope to get more," Fitch said today.

His committee is soliciting donations for this purpose. The trustees also hope for more donations for the academic center library. "We feel the program is strengthening in Salem as people become more aware of the center," Fitch declared.

The trustees made plans to erect a sign on N. Lincoln Ave. denoting the location of the academic center at the Senior High School. Also discussed were plans to erect a booth at the Columbiana County Fair in August to provide information about the collegiate program here.

OFFICES TO BE CLOSED

LISBON — Columbiana County Courthouse offices will be closed Saturday in observance of Memorial Day. Some of the offices will operate with reduced staffs Friday to permit other employees an extra day off.

In addition, nearly 2,000 delegates at the organization's Fourth Constitutional Convention adopted resolutions Tuesday calling for retirement under Social Security at age 60 and the right to picket on public property. The latter is a reaction to the refusal of James W. Shocknessy, Ohio Turnpike Commission chairman, to permit picketing of turnpike restaurants.

After the hearing Anthony J. Celebrezze, health and welfare secretary, urged passage of the King-Anderson Bill on hospital care for the aged, the convention voted support for the measure.

A letter from President Johnson was read to the delegates. It said Congress can remove "the scourge of inherited poverty from our shores" with the help of labor, industry and local government. On civil rights, the President said the time has come to stop just talking and "to act to put the full protection behind the rights God gave every human being. The pending civil rights bill will be a major step toward achievement."

I. W. Abel, international secretary-treasurer of the United Steelworkers of America, told the delegates that the nation is being pictured as a rich society. "Yet," he said, "we have the worst poverty and greatest slums society has ever produced."

past is our faith in the future. From Jefferson to Kennedy we in this hall have received that legacy—a torch passed from one generation to the next.

"Let us carry that torch proudly toward our vision of the future."

As Democrats glowed, Republican Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware glowered and tried to get a Senate investigation of reported solicitation of career government employees to buy tickets to the fund-raising affair.

Williams introduced a resolution in the Senate Tuesday asking Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to determine whether solicitation of career employees is a violation of the law.

Democrats refused to let Williams' resolution come to a vote but it remained on the calendar.

They say it was an objective predicated on the ability of the South Vietnamese to stand on their own feet and to control most of their country, and on political stability in Viet Nam.

Hearing Set on Blue Cross Subsidiary Rate Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Insurance Department plans a hearing early in July on a rate increase to a Blue Cross subsidiary, a division chief said today.

Fred Smith, head of the department's hospital section, said the hearing decision followed protests to Gov. James A. Rhodes against an increase approved last Friday to Hospital Care Corp. of Southwestern Ohio (Blue Cross).

The hospital insurance subsidiary covers 15 southwest Ohio counties.

John M. McElroy said Tuesday night that Rhodes had asked State Insurance Director William R. Morris to hold up approval of the rate increase and schedule a public hearing on the hike in accordance with the Administrative Procedures Act.

McElroy could not say how soon the hearing would be held. The increase granted last Friday by the Insurance Department was the third for Hospital Care in the last five years. Effective Oct. 1, it would hike insurance rates for family care plans from $2 to $2.60 a month and for single persons from 75 cents to $1.20 a month.

McElroy said the protests, "particularly from the AFL-CIO," objected that the Administrative Procedures Act was not followed in approving the increase. The act provides that a public hearing, after 30 days' notice, be held before the increase is approved.

The AFL-CIO protest McElroy referred to was a telegram sent to Rhodes by the 100,000-member Cincinnati AFL-CIO Labor Council after the Insurance Department announced approval of the rate hike. It called on Rhodes to suspend the increase until a public hearing could be held.

Blue Cross says Hospital Care Corp. has been losing money since the year began, including nearly $1 million in the first four months of 1964.

The rate increase would affect Blue Cross subscribers in Adams, Brown, Butler, Clark, Clermont, Clinton, Darke, Greene, Hamilton, Highland, Scioto and Warren counties.

Dr. George Van Horne, executive head, said about 85 have indicated an interest in the summer music instruction.

Elementary supervisor Urban Petros, who is on the administrative staff for 11 months of the year, was named to operate the summer school which will begin in early June in the upper elementary classes. The fee is $5 per student for materials or for students outside the district, $15 per course.

Dr. Van Horne said the exact starting date will be announced.

Pineapple Dessert Low In Calories

This angelically light pineapple dessert rates low in calorie count but takes top honors in cooling fresh taste refreshment. Naturally sweet pineapple juice adds most of the flavor to the airy light foam. What's more, each serving has just 75 calories of satisfying sweetness. The dessert is quick and easy too, accented simply with a (½-cup) molds. Chill firm. Make touch of lemon.

Of course, Pineapple Snow is always perfect for a light 'n' lovely ending to a heavy company meal. In this case, thin chocolate mints would be elegant to pass in a silver compote. Angelic Pineapple Snow

1 envelope unflavored gelatin,
1 (12-ounce) can pineapple juice,
2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon lemon juice,
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel,
2 egg whites.

Combine gelatin, pineapple juice, sugar and salt. Heat, stirring, until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat; blend in lemon juice and peel. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold into pineapple gelatin. Spoon into 4 (½-cup) molds. Chill firm. Make 4 servings.

Whole Wheat Bread Tasty

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
We notice a resurgence of interest in whole wheat yeast bread. Cooks tell us they want to try baking it at home.

So here's the latest recipe for the bread that we've tried. This loaf has a hint of lemon. And here's where we give you a hint. The full flavor of the lemon comes through best when the bread is eaten fresh from the oven. To our way of thinking, eating freshly-baked bread isn't exactly a hardship!

This bread has the soft cake-like texture and sweet flavor that is popular nowadays. When we baked it we used stone-ground whole wheat flour. This is available at some food markets and at most "health food" stores.

AMERICAN

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

¾ cup milk, scalded, 3 tablespoons sugar, 4 teaspoons salt, 1-3 cup butter or margarine, 1-3 cup light molasses, 1½ cups warm water, 2 packages active dry yeast, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, 4½ cups unsifted whole-wheat flour, 2¼ cups (about) unsifted white flour.

Into the scalded milk, stir the sugar, salt, butter and molasses; cool to lukewarm. Into the warm water, stir the yeast until dissolved; stir in lukewarm milk mixture, grated lemon rind and whole-wheat flour. Beat until smooth. Add enough additional white flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto a lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic — about 10 minutes. Place in a greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in a warm place free from draft until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch down dough; turn out onto a lightly floured board. Divide in half; shape into two loaves. Place in two greased 9 by 5 by 3 inch loaf pans. Cover; let rise in a warm place free from draft until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven about 30 minutes or until bread tests done.

TV-Radio Today

By ALAN GILL
"Indians and I Speak the Same Language"

"The purpose of this program is to give an honest report to the American people on India's will and ability to resist Chinese Communism."

tall, handsome, erect fellow with a tidy moustache, a string of novels to his name ("Bhowani Junction," etc.) American citizenship and a distinguished career as an officer in the Indian Army. His comments were made across a lunch table a while back, in anticipation of the hour-long filmed report he was making for NBC News, "Jawan: The Defense of India."

The program will show up this Tuesday night, May 26. "Most people," said Masters, "Have a lopsided idea of the Indian Javan, or G. I. The 10 per cent of India which is pacifist played a disproportionately large role in the war of independence; the others just didn't give a damn or fought on the British side. But we have to remember that it was the Sepoys that beat the French in 1770; the Madrasis conquered India for the British; the Mahattas in the tableland beyond Bombay, who swept over India in the late 16th and early 17th centuries, are fighters, burning, fierce; and the Sikhs are the toughest people in the world."

PLACING HIS martini glass in Sinkiang and his ashtray in Tibet and etching the Karakoram Pass in the tablecloth with his thumbnail, Masters turned to the all-out Chinese attack on India's northern borders in October, 1962. "One Indian brigade," he said, "was cut up and panicked. The Drvonk Gurkhas killed over 2,000 Chinese before they pulled out. But the Indians really fought well everywhere. The impression was: 'Why did they all run away?' We lost faith in the wrong people. It's okay to lose faith in some politicians, who were responsible for the debacle and who are still unwilling to admit where the enemy is, but not in the ordinary Indian."

MASTERS PUT THE IDEA of a "Jawan" report to NBC late last spring and, with producer Gerald Green and cameraman Henri Toluzzi, filmed it in India a year's end. "The Himalaya and Karakoram Mountains," he said, blowing out a soft whistle, "are really startling in the color film we shot. You could take all the mountains in the world and not fit them into the Himalayas. They're good television. And when you've got them, you don't spend 40 minutes of your hour talking politics and pointing at maps."

"My wife was along. She did the odd jobs: the logistical work, the interpreting, the checking on who needed scrambled eggs in his belly or gin in his flask."

If anyone is capable of reporting India to Americans just now, John Masters feels his own credentials will do nicely. "My family is five generations in India. The Indians and I speak the same language. In World War II — in the Near East and in Burma under Wingate — I had the Ninth Gurkhas in my brigade. I ran into some of them while we were filming 'Jawan.'"

IN HIS AUTOBIOGRAPHICAL books, "Bugles and a Tiger" and "The Road Past Mandalay," Masters told "what changes a schoolboy into a military officer into a man." In a forthcoming volume, "Pilgrim Son," he will tell "what changes a British soldier into an American novelist."

Early in 1948 after India had won its independence, Masters came to the United States with the idea of running a travel agency that would conduct tours of the Himalayas.

The New Yorker magazine, catching wind that a "crazy Englishman" was in town peddling nursing brassieres while he tried selling his Himalayan tour scheme, sent reporter Rex Lardner down to Master's flat of a hotel. In the course of their chat, Masters offered a brief survey of Hollywood's woolly ideas of a movie about India which had Lardner doubled up in laughter.

"Write it," said Lardner. Masters did. Lardner sold it next day to The Atlantic Monthly. And an extremely prolific career was off in a sprint that's never slowed down.

Mets Romp 19-1; Pirates Humble Phillies 13-4

Houston Trims Milwaukee 4-2

National League umpires, who are talking about a strike, must have been out painting picket signs.

How else can you explain the New York Mets scoring 19 runs? In a week you say? Well, it's true that would be a prolific output for Casey Stengel's runless wonders for seven days and it's more than they scored last single game.

That's right, a single game. And there were 2,503 fans in Chicago's Wrigley Field Tuesday who can testify to the 19-1 victory. In years to come that number is sure to grow. People like to say they were on hand when history was made.

The Mets, whose past performance has made them somewhat modest souls, did most of the damage with a couple of fellows named Smith. They weren't the tough drop boys but Dick and Charley certainly irritated the Cubs as New York sprayed 23 hits against six Chicago hurlers.

Dick Smith became the first Met ever to get five hits in a game with three singles, a double and a triple. Charley Smith belted a three-run homer, the added two singles for five RBI. Jack Fisher, delighted with the fantastic support, fashioned a four-hitter and went the distance for the first time since May 3, 1963.

And Stengel? The Ol' Perfesser was delighted with the show. "Well, I suppose most of the club owners will be trying to contact me now to get my players," he told newsmen.

Don't expect a mad rush, Case.

While the Mets were wearing out Cub fielders, Pittsburgh gave Philadelphia a similar treatment. The Pirates scored 10 runs in the first two innings and coasted to a 13-4 victory. Houston dropped Milwaukee 4-2 and Cincinnati whipped Los Angeles 6-2. San Francisco and St. Louis were rained out.

The Mets jumped on Cub starter Bob Buhl for four runs in the first and completed the carnage with six runs in the ninth. In between they kept the Cubs chasing base hits all over the field and looked like anything but cellar dwellers.

Manny Mota had a solo homer and Jim Pagliaroni crashed a grand slam as the Pirates hopped on Chris Short and Dallas Green in the first two innings.

Vern Law won it with a six-hitter fanning seven and walking one. Cookie Rojas and John Callison homered for the Phils.

Dick Farrell became the first seven-game winner in the majors, throttling the Braves on four hits. Al Spangler's leadoff homer got the Colts started and Farrell's 11-strikeout pitching kept them going.

The Braves, who had banded out 43 hits in winning their last three games, made their loudest noise with solo homers by Felipe Alou and Joe Torre. Torre also doubled and walked raising his average to .376.

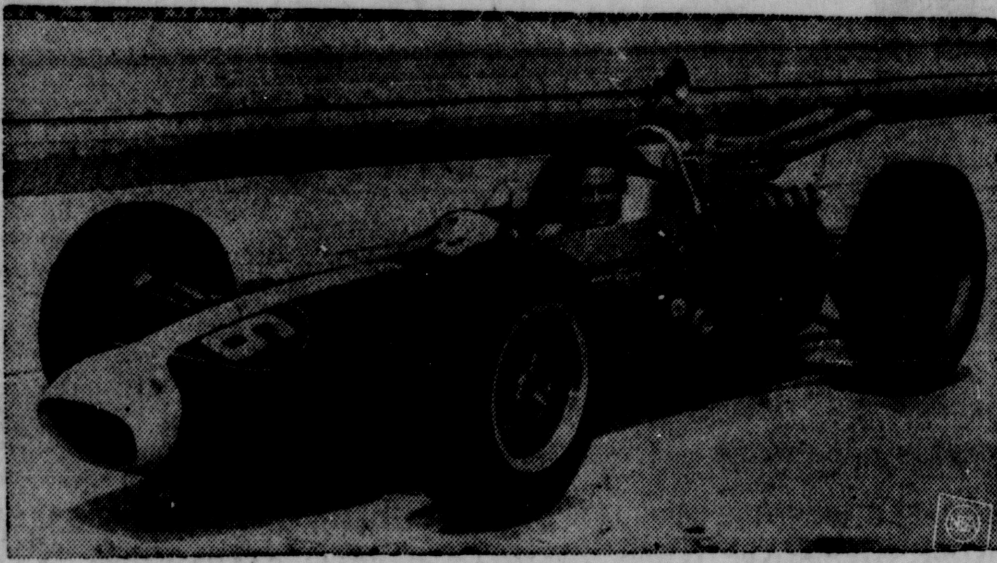

Don Drysdale permitted just three hits but Cincinnati bunched them in the second inning and combined with Drysdale's throwing error on an attempted pickoff it led to a 3-0 Reds' lead.

Cincinnati added three in the ninth against Ron Perranoski. Bob Purkey had a four-hit shut-out until Tommy Davis singled and Frank Howard cracked his 13th homer in the 9th.

NL Umpires Threaten To Strike July 3 In Pension Plan Rhubarb

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Baseball League Umpires Association, having failed to pressure a pension plan increase, has issued a strike ultimatum.

Either the National League meets the association's demands or "appropriate action" will be taken by 3 p.m., July 3, said attorney John J. Reynolds of Chicago, who represents the group, on Tuesday.

The move hit such baseball officials as Warren Giles, president of the National League, and Ford Frick, the game's commissioner, by surprise.

However, the umpires' association has been angling for increased pension benefits for the last six months without receiving league courtesy, said Reynolds.

Eighteen of the league's 20 umpires met with Reynolds in Chicago and drafted a letter demanding increased benefits. Copies of the letter were sent to Giles and every team in the league.

Currently, the pension plan for umpires retiring at 55 calls for $200 a year for each year of service meaning an umpire with 10 years of active service would receive $2,000 a year upon retirement.

The association, however, wants this figure boosted to $300 a year for each year of service. Recent dickering resulted in an offer of $250 by Giles which the National League umpires turned down before issuing their ultimatum.

Reynolds said that he and five directors of the group met with league officials at the major league meetings last December. This group also huddled with the National League Pension Committee.

"We made repeated requests for an opportunity to discuss our demands," said Reynolds "but we heard nothing from the league. Two weeks ago we received a letter from Mr. Giles in which he presented his proposal of $250 a year per man."

"We held our meeting and the umpires voted against acceptance. That is our final decision and I don't think we have to hold any other meetings."

Frick said he didn't know anything about a strike threat and added that "I would have to say at this time that it is a league matter."

Umpires in the American League are not organized such as their National League counterparts. American League umpires had a pension plan calling for $150 a man per year of service until this spring when the figure was boosted to $250.

Eisenhower, Palmer Capture Exhibition For Heart Fund

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP)—The crowd at Merion Golf Club was apprehensive. Comments included, "Gee, I hope he plays well," to "I hope he doesn't embarrass himself."

The "he" was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and the former president not only didn't embarrass himself, but stole the show from his partner, Masters champion Arnold Palmer.

Eisenhower and Palmer teamed in a match Tuesday for the benefit of the Heart Fund against veteran pro Jimmy Demaret and dancer Ray Bolger. The Heart Fund reported it took in $25,000.

On the course made famous by Bobby Jones, when he completed his golf grand slam here in 1930 (winning the British and American Open and amateur tournaments, Gen. Ike played the kind of golf that prompted Palmer to comment:

"I must admit, he carried me all the way. His golf was superb."

This was Ike's first public golf exhibition, and he did himself proud as he and Palmer defeated Demaret and Bolger 3 and 2 over the par 36-34 course in kept them going.

Clark Expects to Lead From Start to Finish In 500 Race

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Jimmy Clark caravan, which picks up another batch of speed fans every time the Flying Scot races in this country, fully expects him to lead from start to finish in Saturday's 48th 500-mile classic Saturday.

They're asking quite a bit. The closest anybody ever came to leading all the way was Billy Arnold's performance in 1930 in a Hartz-Miller 8 that outlasted the field. Arnold grabbed the lead on the third lap and never as headed after that.

The 28-year-old Clark, who must be the most eligible bachelor around Duns, Scotland, rambles around the Speedway munching apples and looking like anybody but the world's most ferocious competitor in a race car. That title is disputed vigorously by admirers of such American cyargers as Parnelli Jones, A. J. Foyt and Rodger Ward but the Yanks have yet to show they can compete with Clark on the international Grand Prix circuit.

He started racing only eight years ago, a short period compared with many of the top American drivers. He competed in one race at Crimond, Scotland, that year. He drove in only two the next year.

He started running in earnest in 1958 on the Scottish Border Reivers team of Jaguars. He shifted to the English Lotus team at the start of 1960 and finished eighth in world standings. He moved up to sixth in 1961, second in 1962 and the championship last year.

Clark won an unprecedented seven Grand Prix races last season and added the Netherlands Grand Prix last Sunday. He finished a close second to Parnelli Jones in the 1963 Indianapolis 500, won the Milwaukee 200 in record time and broke the one-lap record at the Trenton 200 before going out with mechanical trouble.

He finished No. 6 in U.S. Auto Club standings against drivers who ran on the USAC circuit all season.

Indianapolis Open Tourney Starts Today

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Under suddenly fickle Hoosier skies, 149 pros and 10 amateurs launched the $70,000 "500" Festival Open Golf Tourney today over a wet 6,467-yard layout that was mastered by most of the veterans in tune-ups Tuesday.

Although an afternoon deluge abruptly ended Tuesday's celebrity pro-am event, 23 of 27 pros to finish matched or busted the 35-36-71 par. Sam Carmichael, a neighbor to the course who plays out of nearby Martinsville, Ind., drilled a 65—including an eagle 3 on the final hole. He still was four strokes shy of hate 18-hole record set last year on the short, flat course.

Back for the fifth annual meet are defending champion Dow Finsterwald, who had a 16-under-par 268 last year; two-time winner Doug Ford, and 1962 champ Billy Casper. This year's tourney is worth $12,000 to the winner.

In the field today were Jack Nicklaus, the leading money winner on this season's PGA tour, and Mike Souchak, fresh from a victory in last weekend's Memphis Open. They didn't participate in the warm-up round.

Orioles' Rookie Bunker Chalks Up 5th Win In Row; Bosox Triumph 3-2

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's no battle when Bunker's on the hill.

Wally Bunker, the 19-year-old rookie right-hander creating a sensation with the Baltimore Orioles, marched up on the hill for the fifth time this season Tuesday night and came away with his fifth victory, 2-1 over the Detroit Tigers.

There was, of course, the usual skirmishing, but Bunker has not been bombed yet. This time he set the first 13 Tigers down in order and allowed only three hits before he was lifted for a pinch hitter when the Orioles scored the winning run in the seventh.

Bunker's professional experience before this season consisted of 14 games with Stockton in 1963, where he posted a 10-1 record, and an 0-1 record with the Orioles after reaching the majors at the tailend of the season.

The teen-ager tosser has become the Orioles' No. 1 winner, allowing only 22 hits and eight earned runs in 41 innings for an eye-opening 1.76 ERA.

While Bunker was winning his fifth straight, Ken McBride of the Los Angeles Angels continued to add to his total on the debit side of the ledger. McBride allowed only three hits in eight innings but lost to Minnesota 2-1 for his eighth defeat since an opening-game triumph.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston edged Washington 3-2 on Ed Bressoud's run-producing single in the ninth and the New York Yankees defeated Cleveland 3-2 on Bobby Richardson's ninth inning single. The Chicago White Sox were rained out at Kansas City.

The Orioles broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh on singles by Jerry Adair, Dick Brown and Bob Johnson, who pinch hit for Bunker. Stu Miller protected the edge, pitching no-hit ball over the final three innings in his 18th relief appearance. The Tigers had tied it in the fifth against Bunker on a walk, Bill Freehan's single and a sacrifice fly by Don Wert.

McBride, protecting a 1-0 lead lost it in the fourth when he hit Rich Rollins with a pitch and an error and a walk filled the bases. Don Mincher's sacrifice fly got the run home. The Twins moved ahead to stay in the seventh when Mincher singled and eventually scored on an infield hit by winning pitcher Jim Kaat.

Kaat, bringing his record to 5-2, struck out nine and scattered eight hits.

Jim King hit for the cycle for the Senators, smacking a single, double, triple and homer. The homer tied the score 2-2 in the sixth. The Red Sox won it in the ninth when winning pitcher Earl Wilson led off with a walk and moved around on singles by Dalton Jones and Eddie Bressoud.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Red Sox and their eighth in nine games.

Richardson, who earlier had belled a pair of two-out triples but was stranded, drove across the tie-breaker for the Yankees following singles by Elston Howard and Phil Linz. The victory went to Pete Mikkelsen, working in relief of Whitey Ford. Roger Maris homered for the Yankees as they scored two runs in the fourth inning.

INSIDE INFORMATION — There are as many ways to slide in baseball as there are players. For instance, top left, a head-first slide, by Bob Tillman of Boston, is sometimes effective but terribly hard on the complexion. Pedro Gonzalez of the New York Yankees, top right, prefers to soar into base like an albatross coming in for a landing. Some go all out, like Zello Versailles, of the Minnesota Twins, bottom, who stretches.

Yanks Beat Indians 5th Straight Time

NEW YORK (AP) — Is that old magic that Yankee hurler Whitey Ford has been working on the Cleveland Indians nothing but a cheap trick with a ring?

The Indians weren't exactly hexed Tuesday night, but the veteran southpaw was good enough to hold them, scattering eight hits over eight innings.

In the ninth, with the score tied 2-2, Cleveland manager George Strickland raised a protest. Jim Grant observed that every inning when he went out to pitch, the ball he got was scuffed.

Strickland accused Ford of rubbing the ball with abrasive tape. There was tape over a ring that Ford wore on his right hand.

Plate umpire John ice held a conference with Ford, and New York manager Yogi Berra joined in the heated discussion.

sion. Ford went to the dressing room and removed the ring.

Whether Ford was upset by the incident or had lost his "magic," John Romano and Jerry Kindall hit successive singles with one out, and Ford was replaced by Pete Mikkelsen. Woodie Held forced Vic Davalillo, who ran for Romano, and Grant's liner was taken by left fielder Tom Tresh on the dead run, ending the Tribe threat.

The Yankees rapped Grant for three hits to break the tie and win 3-2. Mikkelsen picked up the victory for the two-thirds of an inning he pitched.

It was the fifth straight Yankee victory over the Indians.

Lefty Jack Kralick will try to give the Indians their first victory over the Yankees today. Opposing him will be Al Downing, also a southpaw.

Pukalski Scores Winning Run In 6th

Hobbycraft Edges CIO Squad 13-12

Ed Pukalski scored the winning run with two out in the bottom of the sixth inning to give Hobbycraft a 13-12 victory over CIO 1538 in a Class H junior baseball clash at Buckeye Field Tuesday.

In Class G competition, Knights of Columbus clipped Hunt's Independent Union 9-4 at Memorial West, and UCT beat Italian Club 10-4 at Centennial South.

Pukalski led off the sixth with a single. He advanced to second and third as Dave Crookston and Jim Brudery were walked. Kim Crammer then singled to send in the winning marker.

CIO 1538 scored six runs in the second and five in the third to take an 11-6 margin. George Milnarcik had a perfect day at the plate for the losers with a triple, double and two singles. Winning pitcher Pukalski, who came on in relief in the third, led Hobbycraft with a double and two singles. He was the key factor in a double play, and twice caught players off first base on clever pickoff plays.

Kim Crammer collected the game's only home run in the come-from-behind, six-run rally by Hobbycraft in the fifth frame.

Knights of Columbus iced its clash with Hunts in the fifth with a five-run spurt. Rick Alexander's double was the key hit in the rally, which also included five singles, a walk, fielder's choice and an error.

Ted Todd and Gary Ormes each had a pair of hits to pace the losers.

UCT scored in every inning against Italian Club, with Jay Youtz leading the attack with a triple and two singles. Warren Washington had two doubles.

Charlie's, Fernengel's Post Victories

Triple-Play Features Action In City Softball Competition

The first triple-play of the season by Willy's Bait Shop in the first inning against Charlie's Boats was the highlight of the City Softball (fast pitch) League action at Kelley Field Tuesday night.

Charlie's went on to chalk up a 9-3 victory. In another game Fernengel's knocked off Moose 5-1 8-3. The clash between Old Dutch and Gold Bar was rained out.

DAVE DRAKULICH and Dick Andric walked to open the initial inning for Charlie's. Jim Weizenecker then flied out to the right fielder to start the triple play. Drakulich was out trying to score from second base, and Andric was caught in an effort to reach second.

The triple play went from right-fielder John Abel to third-baseman John Hollenck to catcher Wayne Walter to second-baseman Dave Ramsey.

Charlie's iced the contest in the fifth inning with a five-run spurt which included back-to-back home runs by Weizenecker and Jack Jackson.

Jackson came back to sock another homer in the three-run seventh inning. Barry Callison led the losers with a home run in the sixth, after he had belted a triple in the first.

Winning pitcher R. Thompson gave up only four hits. He struck out six. Losing hurler was Eldon Morse.

IN A LOSING CAUSE. Bill Pauline of Moose socked a tremendous home run which cleared the scoreboard and landed in the stone-bed. He had previously singled twice. John Chafin also had two hits.

Fernengel's picked up three runs in the third and two each in the fifth and sixth frames.

Dick Crosser had a triple and two doubles for the winners. Chuck Bush belted a home run in the fifth.

Tetlow Horse to Run At Northfield Park

Pearl Wick, owned by Herbert Tetlow of Damascus and trained and driven by Don Reynolds, will be going after her second season victory in the fourth dash at Northfield Park tonight.

The four-year-old daughter of Famous Hanover and Mistaway clicked once in her last four starts after earning $1,853 in 25 starts last year.

She will be racing from the number four slot as she faces a field of eight sidewheelers which includes three horses she has already beaten.

Players Needed In Class G

There are still vacancies for players in the Salem Junior Baseball Class G division. Any boys interested in playing in the loop should contact Charles Mattevi at Lape Hotel.

Camp Fire Girl Notes

Shiwinoni Group

An international friendship program with an African theme was held recently by the Shiwinoni Group Camp Fire Girls with Janet Sanders as mistress of ceremonies.

Mrs. Herman Stratton was guest speaker and told of work being done in Burundi, Africa, by her daughter, who is a missionary there. She also presented for display artifacts from Africa.

A skit, part of which was in Swahili, was presented by Jean Crowgey, Lynda Hochradel, Sue Leider, Barbara Monteleone and Debbie Stokes.

Authentic African tribal songs were sung by the group who then played a Congolese hand game. Patty Coe and Christine Ellyson were song leaders.

Durban apricot fritters, a popular dessert of people in South Africa, were served by hostesses, Katherine Moore and Dee Sell.

A Whoelo cheer was sung for Evey Luce and Barbara Heston who created a symbolgram for the group and made the banner.

After the party an African display featuring posters and a model village was set up in the main corridor of Buckeye School.

Special guests at the party were Miss Ruth Martin, Mrs. Pete Monteleone, Mrs. Fred Crowgey Jr., members of Camp Fire Group 6, and their leaders, Mrs. Donald Smith and Mrs. Howard Moore.

Beaver Local's PTA Holds Fete For Dr. VanHorne

Successive functions this week in Beaver Local School District are keeping parents and students on a steady go.

Monday night departing executive head, Dr. George Van Horne, was feted by the district's PTA's and Mothers Clubs at the final regular meeting of the Public School PTA. Dr. Van Horne, who will leave in June for Geneva College, was presented luggage and other gifts in appreciation of his service the past nine years. New officers were installed.

On Wednesday night at 8 p.m. the eighth grade recognition program will be held at the high school with honor students speaking.

The end-of-year whirl will continue Thursday night at 8 at the high school with an awards program sponsored by the Association for the Advancement of Education at Beaver Local. For the first time, Summi Decem awards will be presented to the top 10 students in grades 7 through 12.

Dr. Arthur Cloran of Calcutta, association president, will hand out certificates with the Summi Decem triangular symbol and honorary patches to be sewed on garments.

Also on the program will be Dr. Van Horne and board president Paul Dailey. Guest speaker will be Joseph Coons, director of East Liverpool radio station WOHL.

The culmination of activities will come Friday night when the seniors will graduate at commencement exercises at 8 p.m. at the high school. Baccalaureate was Sunday.

Cranberry Salad Is Ideal Centerpiece

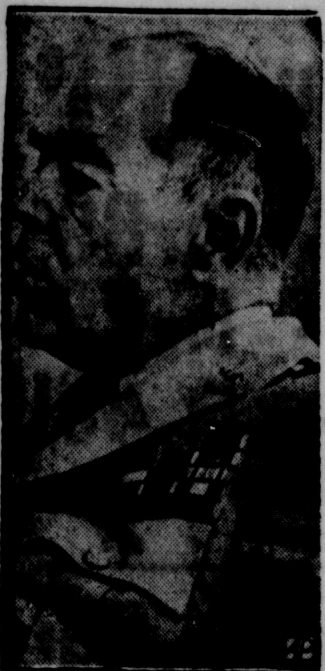

The first days of spring bring a variety of delights, and who doesn't take pleasure in adding to them. One sure way to please the family is to spark up eating enjoyment with something new from the kitchen.

A flavorful Frosted Cranberry Salad is an ideal way to pep up appetites. Canned whole cranberries and orange juice provide the makings for this colorful salad, and, when frosted with a cottage cheese and mayonnaise dressing it's extra fancy.

To complete the meal serve Shrimp Spaghetti in individual casseroles. This quickie is easy to make with canned shrimp and spaghetti with tomato juice.

Frosted Cranberry Salad
1 pkg. lemon flavored gelatin, 1½ cups canned orange juice, 1 can (1 lb.) whole cranberry sauce, ½ cup chopped celery, ½ cup chopped pecans, 1 cup cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise.

Dissolve gelatin in hot orange juice. Add cranberry sauce and stir until blended. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Add celery and nuts; put in a mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp greens and frost top with cottage cheese and mayonnaise mixed together. Six servings.

Electronic Spies Can Be Everywhere

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. sleuths overseas have discovered that fireplaces can have ears.

One such fireplace was in the office at the residence of the American ambassador in Prague. Late last year State Department security men found a tiny radio hidden in the framework.

The midget transmitter, which could beam conversations in the room to eavesdroppers outside the ambassador's home, was described today as the most sophisticated device yet uncovered in a continuing check on attempts to spy against U.S. envoys abroad.

Over the past 15 years some 170 hidden electronic snoopers have been ferreted out of the offices and homes of American officials in foreign lands, mostly behind the Iron Curtain.

The bugging is still going on and so are searches by specially trained State Department security men. Their biggest find announced last week, was 40 microphones in the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

The Soviet microphones were relatively crude as spy devices go. But they defied U.S. detection for 12 years because they were so deeply embedded in the walls of the embassy and because they sent their signals by wire, not radio.

The State Department has a 95-man security squad operating abroad, headed by a former FBI and Central Intelligence Agency officer, G. Marvin Gentile.

Some of the overseas investigators are engineering graduates who specialize in electronic counter-espionage. Others do personnel security work, such as checking the backgrounds of federal job applicants who have lived overseas.

In Washington, the State Department has a locked "chamber of horrors" room for display of captured gadgets. The security men are briefed on the latest advances in eavesdropping technology.

Armed with modern detecting equipment, the overseas investigators travel out of Frankfurt, Beirut and Tokyo headquarters to "sweep" official quarters in the more than 100 countries where the U.S. government has buildings. If Congress votes the money, they will set up another headquarters in Africa.

Even with the stepped-up program, the security men cannot be 100 per cent sure they have uncovered all the spy devices. It is a standard rule for U.S. diplomats, especially in Communist countries, to assume unfriendly ears are trying to listen in. Just turning on a water faucet or blaring a hi-fi set is not enough to offset a secret listening device. Skilled monitors can still pick out the conversation.

The best safeguard devised so far is "secure," or bug-proof, rooms specially constructed in embassies. Talk is possible in these rooms-within-rooms without fear of eavesdropping.

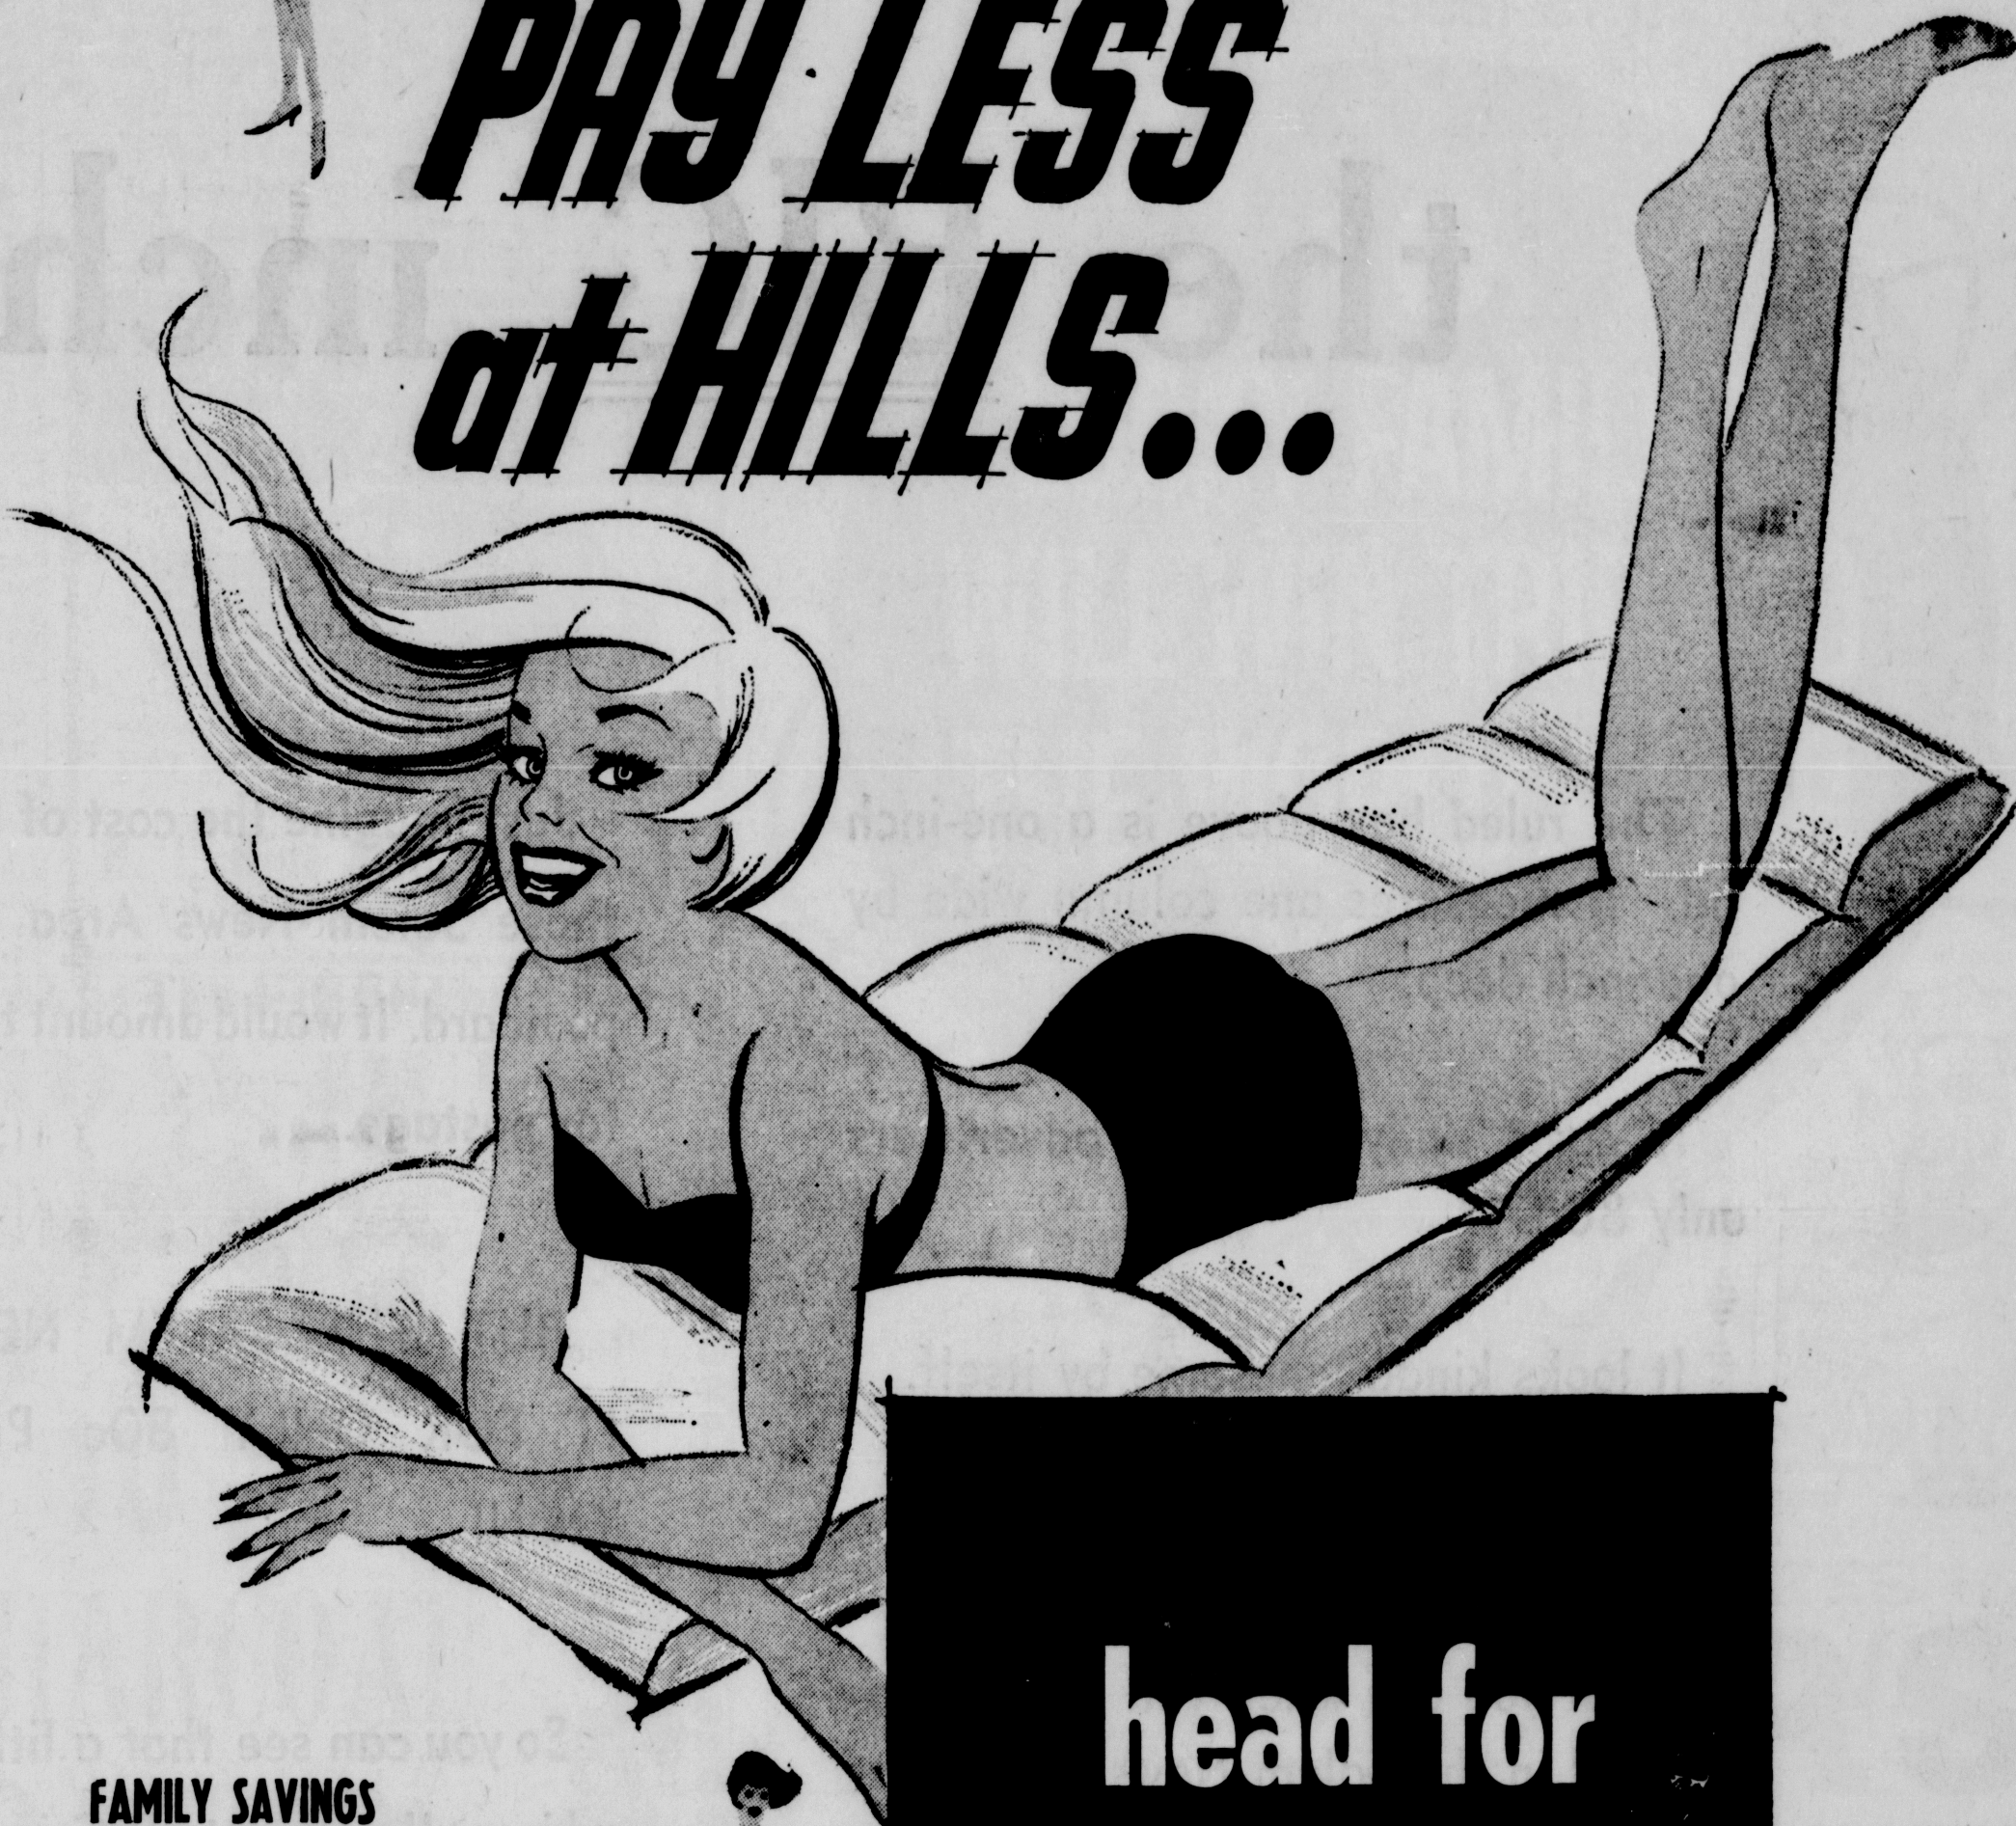

The embassies are regarded as easier to keep free of bugging than diplomats' homes. That's because embassies have a 24-hour guard, while homes are often unattended or are visited by local people who could be agents. When the security men do turn up a hidden gadget, they face another problem: what secrets did the eavesdropper get?

Also, they must check on what non-secret but still embarrassing information the snooper might have picked up to use as blackmail against his diplomat victim.

the BIG inch

The ruled box above is a one-inch ad. It measures one column wide by one inch deep.

It costs daily contract advertisers only 80c.

It looks kinda lonesome by itself.

But look at it this way:

What you get when you buy a one-inch ad in the Salem News is not just a single inch of space in the paper, but one inch multiplied by 10,900 copies daily,

So you are really buying 10,900 inches, which at 168 inches per page would be some 64 full pages of printed newsprint.

That's a mighty big chunk of space for a cost of only 80c. And that price includes delivery to the reader's front doorstep.

Just imagine the cost of reaching all those Salem News Area families by postcard. It would amount to $436 just for postage.

BUT THE SALEM NEWS DOES IT FOR ONLY 80c PER INSERTION!

So you can see that a little one-inch ad is really a pretty BIG inch when it's advertising space in the Salem News. And the figures show that it's the most effective and economical way possible to let people in this area know that you have merchandise and services that they could use.

Let a Salem News representative show you how a little BIG inch can wake up sales for you.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I made a big mistake and now don't know how to get out of this terrible situation.

I'm a high school junior and I'm not beautiful but I have a nice face and a spectacular figure. Please don't think I am bragging. I've been told this by dozens of people — both boys and girls.

Well, when Tex asked me for a date I was honored. He is about the No. 1 guy in the whole school, handsome and from a rich family. I wanted to make sure he would ask me out a second time, so I let him go further than I should have.

Now that's all Tex wants to do. I've suggested that we double date but he always finds excuses and shows up alone. I'm ashamed of myself and want him to know I made a mistake on our first date and that I'm really not that kind of girl. How can I do it? BAD START.

Dear Start: It's awfully hard to keep 'em down on the farm, honey, after they've seen Paree.

You'll never persuade a fellow you aren't that kind of girl when he has learned from experience that you are. My advice is to stop seeing Tex and chalk this mistake up to experience.

Chain Gang Fugitive

Dean Ann: What's with this chain letter stuff? It used to be just a nice little good luck poem from a friend. Then it branched out and strangers began asking you to make 10 copies of some darned fool thing.

Now it's "Send a fifth of Scotch or $8 worth of trading stamps." What's more, they make it sound as if you will be plagued with 13 years of bad luck if you don't follow the instructions.

Last week I received a bath towel chain letter, and one requesting that I send $5 to the last name on the list didn't follow up with either one and my conscience is bothering me because I broke the chain.

Is this stuff on the level? Does it work? Have you ever heard of anybody who received anything from a chain letter except a request? Thank you. IGNORANT.

Dear Ig: Chain letters are illegal! They are also stupid because they are predicated on the theory that you can get something for nothing.

Frightened Girl

Dear Ann: It seems odd to worry about someone you don't even know, but I'm concerned about that teen-age girl who wrote that she is frightened to be in the house alone.

My daughter went through the same thing. She used to worry about someone's crawling in through her bedroom window at night. You have no idea how many hours I spent with that girl, trying to make her see that all the windows and screens were tightly closed and that it was impossible for anyone to get into the house.

It took me two years to get to the bottom of it. I still find it hard to believe and torturous to endure, but her stepfather wouldn't leave her alone when I was at work.

My daughter is now married happily and has three lovely children. God was with us, Ann. I hope somehow He will be with the girl who wrote. AUGUSTA, MAINE.

Dear Augusta: Experts tell us that it is often extremely difficult to ferret out the initial reason for fear.

In your daughter's case there was a direct relationship between her fear and the cause of it. In many instances there is no visible or apparent relationship, which is why professional help can be costly and time consuming but it is well worth it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Here's True Strawberry Shortcake

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

"If there is anything in the world that is a 'snare and delusion,' it is the compound sold at restaurants as strawberry shortcake. Not that it isn't nice, and doesn't both look and taste good, but it isn't what it pretends to be.

Nobody would object to it if it didn't go masquerading about under an assumed character. But any cake, either sweetened or otherwise, isn't a 'short' cake just because it happens to be cut open, and has strawberries spread between the layers. It may be a strawberry-cake, but it is not a strawberry shortcake. That is a distinction with a difference, as you will see after you have once eaten the genuine New-England affair."

Whoops! Those words were written by a cook-book author of the 1880's, but they might well have been written in 1964. So if you want to savor strawberry shortcake made from biscuit, you had better go into the kitchen.

This biscuit-type strawberry shortcake recipe is betwixt and between, partly old and partly new. For one thing, sugar goes into the biscuit—a heresy in bygone days. For another, the berries are sliced—old-time eaters wanted them mashed. And the last—the cream is whipped: with a proper New England strawberry shortcake "pour" cream was passed.

NEW-OLD STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

1½ cups sifted flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 3 tablespoons shortening, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 large egg, milk, 1 quart strawberries, extra sugar, ½ pint heavy cream.

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening and 3 tablespoons of the butter until particles are tiny. In a measure, beat the egg just until yolk and white are combined; add enough milk to make 2-3 cup; with a fork, stir into flour mixture; mix only to form a soft dough.

Turn out on prepared pastry cloth; knead about 20 seconds. Roll out about ¼-inch thick. Spread with remaining tablespoon butter (soft or melted).

Fold over the dough; roll again to about ¼-inch thickness. Cut out with a 3-inch floured cookie cutter or glass. Bake on ungreased cookie sheets in a very hot (450 degrees) oven for 10 to 12 minutes or until browned.

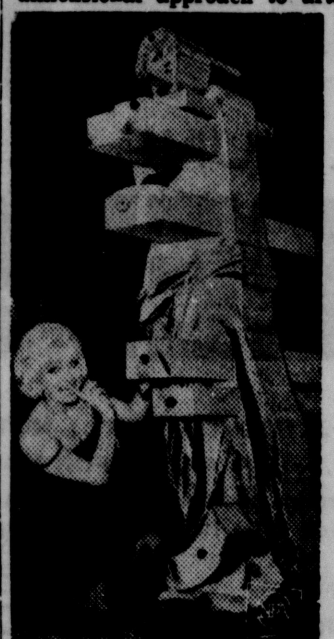

Wash strawberries; reserve 6. Hull remaining berries, halve and fold in sugar to taste (½ cup if you like); allow to stand at room temperature for about half an hour for sugar to dissolve.

Split hot biscuits; sandwich and top with strawberries and whipped cream sweetened to taste. Makes 6 servings.

Good Old Days

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Memory is one thing in life that increases in value as you get older.

The more you have to remember the richer you are, and the longer you live the more worthwhile things you have to recall—if you've had any luck at all.

You've had your fair share of nostalgia if you can look back and remember when—Spinach was the vegetable bane of childhood, because parents said, "It's full of iron—and iron is good for you."

The dentist was pleased if you brushed your teeth at night and morning. Even most rich people didn't bother to brush after every meal.

There was a difference between masculine and feminine realms of power. Mother was the expert on anything pertaining to the house, father was the unchallenged authority on such matters as baseball, politics and the tariff.

One of the secret diversions in high school English classes was looking up the naughty words in the works of William Shakespeare.

There was no greater thrill than getting to feed a carrot to one of the great gray horses that pulled the fire department's hook and ladder wagon.

If you were trusted to go outside and beat the dust from the blackboard erasers, all your envious schoolmates called you "Teacher's pet!"

Medicine, if it was to do you any real good, had to taste bad—and it usually was colored dark brown.

Golf and tennis were both regarded as silly games played largely by well-to-do people who weren't physically up to the wear and tear of body contact sports.

Hospitals were feared by most persons. They were regarded as places where you went to die rather than to get well.

Anybody who got his car up to more than 60 miles an hour was considered a reckless daredevil.

Teen-agers screamed almost as loudly over the singing of a beanpole kid named Frank Sinatra as they do now over the music of England's four hairy Beatles.

People of 40 were thought of as old but still employable.

Only the very wealthy worried about the income tax. The working man who got a full week's paid vacation a year felt he was fortunate. And only sick people ever were put on diets. Those were the days. Remember?

For Outdoors Cooking

By GAYNOR MADDOX
The fun season of outdoor cooking is now in full swing. It can also be the season of good eating, as any self-respecting outdoor chef will tell you. So let's try something new like this combination of lamb and pineapple on skewers.

PINEAPPLE LAMB, ISLANDER (6 servings)

4 pounds boned leg of lamb, 1 (1 pound 4 1/2 ounce) can pineapple slices, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 1/4 cup wine vinegar, 1/4 cup catsup, 1/2 cup sauterne or lemon and water, 3 tablespoons cooking oil, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 2 teaspoons seasoned salt, 1/2 teaspoon oregano, 2 sprigs mint or 1 teaspoon dried mint, 2 cloves garlic, 12 small white onions, parboiled or canned, 12 small plum tomatoes. Trim fat from lamb, cut meat into 1 1/4-inch chunks. Drain 1/2 cup syrup from pineapple and combine with lemon juice, vinegar, catsup, wine, oil, mustard, salt and oregano. Add bruised mint sprigs or dried mint and cut garlic cloves.

Combine with lamb, cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight. When ready to barbecue, discard mint and garlic. Thread 4 or 5 lamb cubes on each skewer.

Grill over hot coals until meat is crusty and brown on outside and faintly pink inside. Brush frequently with marinade and turn often for even cooking. When meat is almost done, push cubes together toward upper end of skewer.

Thread quartered pineapple slices on end of skewer and grill a few minutes until heated and browned.

Thread onions and tomatoes on separate skewers; grill, brushing with marinade, until heated and tinged with brown.

Additional skewers to take care of the vegetable selection are made by threading white onions and small whole tomatoes together. Brush with the same zesty marinade as they join the lamb 'n' pineapple skewers for a few minutes heating.

Traveler was the name of Robert E. Lee's famous horse.

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Monday approved travel allowance for Commissioner Walter Hunston to take a petition to state highway department division 11 headquarters at New Philadelphia today for the erection of a traffic light at the intersection of Routes 14 and 170 in Unity.

Area residents requested installation of a stop light instead of the existing caution light but received no reply from the department.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

Ed Altomare tells me not to miss the barbershop quartets coming to Columbiana on June 6th. The Columbiana Rotary Club is sponsoring the event--all the proceeds to go to the Columbiana Scholarship Fund. You won't regret reserving Sat. eve., June 6 for this really worthwhile event. It will be held in the Columbiana High School Auditorium at 8:15 p. m.--Don't miss it--when a Rotarian approaches you to sell you a ticket buy it. These men are working hard for our young people.

Dr. Bill Jones is general chairman of the program.
